New Electric Light Contract at Kerne

After nearly eight months of wrangling, scussions as to the best street lights, re ceiving and rejecting proposals, the Keene city councils at the meeting Thursday passed a joint resolution for a five-year

pany for all street lighting from July 1

1900. At the last meeting a resolution was passed authorizing the committee on light-lights at $95 a year, and 100 3 2-candle power lights at seven and one-half cents per light per night; the company declined to make a contract upon these terms, but submitted a contract in the form of the one in force in Springfield, Mass., for five are lights at $100 per light and 100 32 candle power incandescent lights at three cents per light per night, both kinds to burn all night, and this proposition was ac-cepted by both branches of the city gov-ernment with but little discussion, as every one experienced a feeling of relief that the matter was at last definitely settled.

On Sunday evening four young people from Turners Falls with one horse and a surry drove to the Stebbins ferry for the purpose of crossing. The boat being full they were requested to wait at the top of the hill, but instead, after the boat had left its moorings, the driver drove down the hill into the water, apparently to frighten his companions. The weight of the carriage carried the horse down into the water, and soon in spite of the man's efforts, horse and carriage were affoat and all in the carriage but one, who jumped to the bank, were up to their necks. The boat was backed, the horse's head tied to the boat, while people on the bank res-cued those in the water from what seemed almost certain drowning, had not help been instant. It is hoped the foolish, careless driver learned a lesson.

By way of exercise she delights in climbing trees. Every morning she takes a swim in the lake, which she vastly enjoys. Helen puzzles new visitors by telling the color of the flowers they bring. She can even dis-tinguish a white and yellow pansy from a purple one, and a red from a white rose. Her explanation is that the petals of the darker colored flowers are thicker than those of the lighter ones.

A Traveling Patriarch.

A mau, who said he was 103 years old and he looked to be every day of itwalked up past Williamsville station last week on his way overland to Rutland to visit his niece. He seemed quite active and intelligent and volunteered the information that he could see to read fine print without spectacles. At this stage of the conversation our informant was called to other duties and the old gentle. man passed on. The writer has been kicking himself all the week because he was not present to secure from the aged man an interview for The Phoenix. In these progressive times when the fight for temperance is met by the theory of certain scientific men that alcohol is a good food product and brain producer, and when tobacco and strong tea and coffee are so often held up as injurious and shortening to life, and still so generally persisted in, it would indeed be a boon to humanty to have a man who has lived in two centuries and can almost look over into the third tell us whether he has attained his great age as a pertaker of, or abstainer from these various narcotics.

And then how pleasant it would be for President McKinley and a few others with him who are responsible for this whole Philippine business to be informed by person who was right on the ground at the time whether it is indeed true, as history relates, that Louisiana was ceded to the United States by France sovereignty and all, under a De nocratic administration in 1804, and whether we acquired a large slice of Mexico by conquest, without the consent of the governed, under a later Demo cratic administration. We strongly hope that the old gentleman in his tramp up the state will yet run across some newspaper man who will give to the world his testi mony on these questions of vital hygenic and political importance. [Our correspondent evidently refers to one Stiles McMullen, who seems to be a professional Ananias. He has been interviewed many times and usually says his home is in St, Albans. The St. Albans Messenger has exposed the patriarch's stories repeatedly.

Death at Lynn, Mass., of Mrs. Jennie E. Jones.

The funeral of Mrs. Jennie E. Jones, who died at Lynn, Mass., last Friday, was held at the Methodist church Tuesday afternoon, Rev. A. A. Estabrook officiating. The burial was in the new cemetery at Newfane village. Mrs. Jones was born in Newfane in January, 1845, one of the 10 children of Emory and Rhoda Jackson. Of this family there are now living Mrs. N. Thorn, formerly of Brattleboro, Mrs. Henry Hall of Wyoming, Chauncey and John Jackson of Michigan, Charles Jackson of Vernon and Mrs. John D. Pierce of Newfane. Mrs. Jones was first married to Rufus C. Thorn of Newfane in 1865. He died in 1879. They had five children, of whom four, Wilson H. and Charles A. of Lynn, Mass., Ida N., wife of Percy L. Jones of Beulah, Col., and Mary J., wife of Clarence D. Lazelle of Williamsville, are now living. In 1881 she was again married to Laban Jones of Dover, who died in 1885, since which time she has lived at Dover, with her daughter, Mrs. Lazelle, at Williamsville, and for several years with her sons at Lynn. Notwithstanding the presence of militia at Cleveland the street violence following the strike of trolley men continued Sunday. The company declined to discuss arbitration with the strik-rs, declaring that the men who went out a week ago are no longer in its employ. Some of the tracks were obstructed, windows of the trolleys smashed and the rioters showed fight.

Many arrests were made.

More mob violence, bloodshed and intense excitement marked the efforts to operate the trolley lines at Cleveland Monday. Another car was wrecked by an ex-plosion, injuring several persons, a boy was shot and killed by a non-union car con-ductor, and the police charged repeatedly upon street mobs. All the Cleveland militia, about 1200 men, are under arms, and if they are unable to prevent further dis order a call will be made for a sufficient force of troops from the state.

The story of the shooting is as follows: A 15-year-old boy named Cornzwich, on a 10-year-old boy named Cornawich, on alighting from a car, called the conductor, Raiph Q. Hawley, a scab. The conductor got off the car to follow the boy. Near Perry street the Iad looked around and the conductor pulled out a revolver and shot the boy through the head. The boy's body was carried into a nearby drug store.

FIGHTING AT NEGROS.

Dispersed.

Insurgents Have Withdrawn from Near San Fernando ... United States Soldiers Cut Off by Washouts.

Gen. Otis cabled Monday as follows in egard to the engagement on the island of Negros between a company of the 16th Infantry under command of Capt. Byrne and a band of robbers: "Campaign against mountain robber bands, island of Negros, more successful than reported. Byrne, with his 70 men, killed one-third of the 450 assembled, including their leader, a Spaniard or Spanish Mesitzo. Pursuit then made by Lieut. Evans and detachment 6th Infantry, who killed three and captured one of the robbers; captured 100 head stock, many spears and bolos, large quan-tity provisions, and destroyed 100 huts."

The insurgents have withdrawn from their trenches near San Fernando, retiring to Mexico, ten miles to the northeast, leav ing a few troops on outpost duty in front of the American lines. Gen. MacArthur is keeping up a careful system of outposts about his position in spite of this withdrawal, fearing that some trick is intended by Aguinaldo.

Seventy-six hours of continuous heavy rain has sent all the streams out of their banks, so that San Fernando is practically surrounded by water. The 17th Infantry is cut from the town by a washout. The soldiers there find themselves waist deep in water whenever they are compelled to leave the graded road running through their camp.

The disease known as beriberi has broken out among the native prisoners at Cavite, and efforts to check it have thus far been fruitless. The deaths average two daily. A railway train made the trip from Manila to San Fernando with supplies Monday, running through water much of the way, as the railroad bed is submerged through considerable stretches of low coun-The train was fired on at the Bagbag river by a party of insurgents concealed in STATE AFFAIRS.

Doyle Out of the Workhouse, H. L. Doyle, proprietor of the Avenue House, St. Johnsbury, was discharged from the workhouse at 12 o'clock last night, having served 60 days on a sentence for breaking the liquor law. Mr. Doyle will return to St. Johnsbury Thursday after-noon. Word came from there yesterday that arrangements were being made for a A St. Johnsbury man who was in Rutland yesterday said that the plan included a brass band and some little demonstration, but he did not know whether or not the rogram would be carried out. Mr. Doyle said to a Herald reporter yesterday afternoon that he had made no plans for the fu-ture. He had a prospect of selling his ho-tel. If he sold he would probably leave the state, as he had several opportunities to go into business elsewhere.—[Rutland Herald of Wednesday.

Another Vermont Monument.

A novel sort of monument is to be erect-A novel sort of monument is to be erected on the Gettysburg battlefield in September by the survivors of the 13th Vermont regiment. The statue will show the bronze figure of an officer, his right hand holding a hatchet. The story as to the design of the statue is told as follows: First Lieut. Stephen F. Brown of Company K, 13th Vermont Volunteers, was the model for the statue. Just before the battle he was placed under arrest and was reliaved. vas placed under arrest and was relieved of his sword for having forced a guard from a well in order to get a drink of water while on a march to Gettysburg. During Pickett's charge Lieut. Brown, not having any sword, seized a hatchet and fought with it through the charge. After his heroic conduct Lieut. Brown's sword was returned to him without a trial. He was afterward promoted to be captain .-From the New York Tribune.

Prof. Witthaus Paid His Wife $3640 When She Got a Divorce.

When Mrs. Witthaus obtained an abs lute divorce several months ago from Prof. Rudolph Witthaus of Columbia college and the medical department of the University of Vermont in the supreme court in Brooklyn, she agreed to accept $3640 in a lump sum in lieu of all luture alimony. Application was made to Su-preme Court Justice Stover Tuesday, on behalf of Mrs. Witthaus, for change in the terms of the decree in regard to the ali-mony. Her counsel said that she was in destitute circumstances, and that as Prof. Witthaus is earning from $15,000 to $20,000 a year, she ought to have some allowance from his income. Justice Stover denied

Soldiers' Home Trustees Meet. The 12th annual meeting of the trustee

War Notes.

The war with Spain is over, but the battle of disease with health is still on. It rages hottest in spring. Disease, bred during the rigors of winter, lurks in the system to do its deadly work. You don't feel well. You have no appetite. You are nervous. You have indigestion, which you think is a heart trouble. You are dizzy, feel tired, discouraged, and about ready to give up the battle. Baxter's Mandrake Bitters is the effective weapon in this warfare, and who is armed with it, always conquers Sold liquid in bottles, and tablets in boxes. Price 25 cents for either. It makes folks well. It keeps folks well.
